

Secret admirers of teachers

Students of Class XI groove to Chogada Tara as they give their seniors a warm sendoff

The farewell for the outgoing batch, organised by Class XI students of Bihani Academy, is all about music, dance and nostalgia. Class XII students also write secret messages to their teachers that are read out. Young Metro enjoys the moments...

Music, fashion parade and special recognition — that is how the Class XI students of Bihani Academy said goodbye to the outgoing batch on January 14.

A grand farewell ceremony was arranged in the school's open-air theatre. Class XI students took pains to decorate the party venue with balloons and decorations. They also sang, danced and organised a special game for their immediate seniors.

The cultural programme began with a welcome dance to the popular song Aashayein. The students also sang Memories, that left many teary-eyed and nostalgic.

Students also performed dances to songs such as Roke na ruke naina. The teachers also joined in with the students to bid adieu to the outgoing batch with the hindi song Alvida.

There were back-to-back performances to songs such as Tera yaar hoon main and Toota toota, that left the audience cheering. Students also danced to popular hits such as Koi kahe kehta rahe and Chogada tara.

The best was yet to follow. The Class XII students, dressed in colourful saris (girls) and blazers (boys) took part in a fashion show.

They also took part in a game where they were made to write secret messages on paper chits to their teachers. The messages were then read out by the students. Finally some students of the outgoing batch received recognition through creative titles such as The Extraordinary Athlete, Glamour Goddess and more.

The celebrations left the students emotional. Lots of memories were created at the farewell venue and the students promised to keep in touch with their school and teachers.

The senior farewell was more than just a celebration, filled with laughter, tears and cherished moments. We witnessed amazing performances and each one was a testimony to the talent and creativity of my fellow friends. As the celebration came to an end, we bid adieu to the seniors and wished them luck for their upcoming board exams

The Farewell of 2025 batch was an exciting event. Although it was sad to see our dear seniors leave, we were quite excited to see them in beautiful dresses. The opportunity to do something nice for them was truly a wonderful experience
